Description
Provide a short description of the event and its activities.

The objective of the testimony activity was for Thomas Keneally to discuss Schindler's List, the role of the book, film, and testimonies with participants and develop critical media skills.

The work filmed new testimony activities with Thomas Keneally the author of Schindler's List including his first visit to Schindler's Ark. Research was completed on new Schindler stories to provide the basis for a new book by Thomas Keneally. The activity was then implemented to commemorate Schindler's List at 30 with testimony activities with school children, the local community and the public. A summary video of the events is shown here :

The dissemination of the activity reached 481 people face to face with an even male/female ratio (232 to 240 and 2 non-binary). Students came from five European countries, and two countries outside the EU (3 people in total). The majority were from the Czech Republic, although the teaching ambassadors for the project from Hungary were trained, and people from Slovakia, Italy and Austria reached.

The deliverable was completed with participants from five countries, exceeding the 280 people by 72%, more participants were from Czech Republic given that Thomas Keneally visited the country and gained nation wide media interest. The events reached a balanced set of participants by gender, with a priority given to Emilie Schindler and issues of gender in representation in the film and testimonies. Original materials were delivered, including extensive new testimonies, research into the new Schindler Stories after 30 years, and involvement of the general public in open events.

There was considerable media interest in the event, with four interviews, including three on national television, two prime time morning slots, and the dissemination by TV and radio was nationwide reaching millions of people.
